Mr. Watterson seems to have had a fervid welcome from his own party in New-Orleans. The Bulletin, a pugnaciously loyal Democratic daily of the city. thus greeted him; "Watterson is coming. Thrilling reflection! he may be almost here. We refer to Henry, reflection! he may be almost here. We refer to Henry, of The Courier Journal, and of 2 a. m. sensations. When the Radicals heard it, they cowered together in the remotest bowels of the Custom-house. When Sheridan heard it, he dispatched one of his chief mimons by the electric telegraph to head off Watterson and take a survey of the field. Everybody knows what Watterson is coming for. He showed what sort of a hatrpin he was, two years ago, when he repreached the heroes of the 14th of September for not having destroyed the Federal army and scuttled the Federal war ships. Watterson is a warrior. He somes breathing fire and belching smoke-Watterson, however, does not habitually beich; let us be explicit at any cost. His warlike gorge has risen, though, at the prospect of the nation's offices being snatched from him and his; and this time he belches copiously. He intends to show us how the thing is done. He confers himself upon Louisiana as a military leader who knows what's what, and who can, after two years' inter-val, append to the history of Louisiana's struggle the sequel he thought we should have added in 1874. We are glad Watterson is about to bulge in. A martial paroxysm runs up and down our person when martial paroxysm runs up and down on person when we figure to ourselves the gorgeous Henry on a painted horse, riding down the despot's janisaries, and sweeping fleets and armies from the surface of the earth with his little checoseknife. We don't hanker to join his cavalry, but we want to find some warranted homb-proof casemate and feast one eye on Henry through a spy-glass. We heard of Henry during the war, and his experience in obliterating regiments ought to be immense. The country's safe once more. We should have felt safer if the rest of that litustrious quadrilateral had come with Watterson to make the thing more binding, as it were, so to speak; but Watterson, alone and unattended, is a Boon. He's more than we deserve, and we must not have it said that we are grasping. Let us not be proud; let us bear this visitation meekly. He will alay our enemies and go away very, very soon. We should remember that." Ferinaps it was this mild salutation which made Mr. Watterson think the city "as quiet as a nursery."

The latest London industry is the collection of oleaginous deposits in the mud of the Thames. It is quite profitable, the mud-gatherers making three shillings and sixpence a day. Small globes made of cork and lined with bair are planted in the mud at low tide and the fatty substances in the water achieve to them. This miscellaneous grease is manufactured into fresh butter for the London market.

If anything in this uncertain world will sober drunkard it is an enforced bath in the Niagara River just above the Falls. Last Saturday four intoxicated men were capsized in a small boat near Chippewa and were swept into the upper Horseshoe rapids. Three of were swept into the upper Horsesnoe rapids. Tures of them ching to the hull of the boat, but the fourth broke loose from their grasp and was kept affeat with great difficulty. The caotain of a tow-boat caught sight of them and beaded for them with all the steam his vessel would carry. Just as the yawl struck the tug and was secured, the four men vigorously struck out for shore, swimming in good style for dear life. The man who had been the most troublesome reached land first and straightway repaired to the nearest bur-room.

Matrimonial infelicity in Chinese society is as fiful and abnormal as Hamlet's passion for Ophelia. Years ago a Chinaman was separated from his wife during the Taiping rebellion. The lady, hearing no tidings of her husband, and being in reduced circumstances, married again. The first husband reappeared in Nan-king, and opened negotiations with his successor. A compromise was finally suggested, and in consideration of the sum of $50 in hand paid the first husband finally agreed to sign a guit-claim deed and to find another wife. Ten years went by, and the second husband became the father of two children—a girl of nine years and a bright little fellow three years younger. On Sept. 6 the first husband met this little boy near the south gate of the city, and the atransport of jealousy and rage enticed him to an obscure place, drew a knife, cut off his head, and threw the body into the canal.

Under the pleasant title of "The American Pirate in Africa," The Montreal Witness reviews Mr. Stanley's arbitrary proceedings with the natives and fulminates this ponderous moral; "The United States is, we are afraid, too new a country for its average-minded citizen to be trusted in dealing with inferior races. There are so many engrossing interests for its people within its are so many engrossing interests for its people within its berders, and the loss of life by violence is so frequent and so unpunished in many parts of the country, that there is not the same heavy pressure of public opinion brought to bear on all its citizens who are intelligent enough to be subject to it, whenever there is any transgression against humanity, as in Great Britain, where there is more leisure, and where powerful societies are always on the watch to rebuke inhumanity in any part of the world. This is probably the chief reason why Great Britain is at this time proving the most successful of all countries in its dealings with aboriginal Vibes, whether it is with Indians in Cannda or negroes in Africa. This moral force in Britain brought to bear on all her colonies in favor of the right is one of the most valuable advantages flowing from connection with the British Empire." Hear I Hear?

The government prosecution of David Banks, the driver of the engine that ran over a Chinese lunatic on the railroad which has recently been opened in China, has resulted in ignominious failure. The Chinese soldier was seen walking on the rails toward Shanghai when the engine was about 100 yards away; but on the whistle being sounded he got off and stood near the rails. The evidence was that he was perfectly safe, and there was no necessity for stopping the train. Instead of keeping out of danger he deliberately returned to the track and was run over and killed. The British Minister at once instituted criminal proceedings against the engine driver, seemingly to impress upon the Chinese public the fact that Anglo-Saxon justice has a discriminating eye. The local judge dismissed the ease rather contemptowary, after a short hearing, not caring to hold the enginee responsible for the death of a man who was determined to kill idmaelf. Travel on this railroad was suspended after the accident, and one of the ingenious theories wrought out under pig-thil inspiration ascribes mercenary motives for the sub-ide. The enemies of the railroad, they say, bribed the soldier to kill himself; the avaricious fellow was paid in advance and then earned his wages by throwing himself under the of danger he deliberately returned to the track and was

The present session of the Church Congress in Boston is a very interesting one, although the topics under discussion are more practical and less dogmatic than those which have been debated during the sessions of the past two years. On Wednesday morning, however, issue was joined on more delicate ground—the relation of the Protestant Episcopal Church to freedom of religious thought. Dr. De Koven, Warden of Racine College, and the ablest High Churchman in the West, opened the debate with a paper remarkable for concise "How far," he asked, "can style and close reasoning. the Church limit tfreedom of thought and pronounce authoritatively in the realm of the supernatural ! Only as she speaks the mind of the Holy Catholic Church, of which she is a member. The creeds and the general councils are the expression of the whole Church, and hence must be the voice of truth. While this is admitted, the difficulty comes when we attempt to sattle the position of later utterances and to determine their force. These utterances must be her testinony, and to what she believes the undivided Church would have said—testimony to a probability, but not of such authority as to make their acceptance a term of communion or necessary to salvation." The Rev. Dr. Washburn, who represents the Broad rather than the Low Church, supplemented Dr. De Koven's address with an appeal for a generous spirit of toleration in the Church. The thirty-nine articles, he thought, being adopted by act of Parliament, were binding on the clergy, and their abrogation was a question for the Church to consider at an early day. The Church opens its doors to all who accept the underlying foundation of the faith, without being required to give a full assent to all the theories respecting them. The course of other churches in departing many who did not accept all the theories of faith evolved hunas she speaks the mind of the Holy Catholic Church, or dreds of years ago had kept very many good people outside. Ho, however, advocated a positive faith rather than a negative one, for in the Apostles' Creed are found all the necessary elements of faith.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

MISS DANZIGER'S CONCERT. Miss Fanny Danziger, who has been studying for some years in Leipsic, will make her first appearance since her return at Coickering Hall this even-ing. She will have the assistance of a number of distinguished artists, and the occasion will be one of decided interest, if from no other reason, because it is the debut of a promising native planist. Art is of no country, but we should be glad when we see the excellent results that it has produced in our own.

MME, ESSIPOFF'S CONCERTS. Mme. Essipoff will play at Steinway Hall this evening Beethoven's G major Concerto (No. 4), the last two movements of the great Henselt Concerte, and Meddelssohn's Concerto in G minor. We know of no case where a pianist has undertaken a task of such magnitude as this, and it is one from which any artist might

DR. PEARCE'S PIANO RECITAL.

At Chickering Hall, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, Dr. S. Austen Pearce will give the first of a series of piano recitais. He will have the aid of Mrs. Arthur C. Taylor, and the programme, which is a highly attractive one, contains a number of selections from the best composers for the piano.

PHILADELPHIA NEW NATIONAL, Spectacle has prospered to a remarkable de-gree in Philadelphia this season. The "Black Crook" was played for the 100th consecutive time, at the New National Theater, in that city, on the 6th inst.—and the occasion was signalized by the presentation, to ladies in the audience, of a cabinet photograph of the fountain seene in the play, and by a feast-in which the dramatic company and invited guests participated-after the performance had ended. The New National is one of the largest theaters in America. It contains sents for 2,400 persons, and a handsome foyer, 28 by 78 feet. The "Black Crook" has seldom been as well played or as splendidly mounted as at the Philadelphia New National Theater.

PARK THEATER.

It now appears that affairs at this house are again unsettled. "The tide runs counter." There could not be a better incident for the house, just now, however, than the appearance of Miss Lotta, as projected for the 27th. At least this neat and lively little player would brighten up the laudscape.

LITERARY READINGS.

Miss Kate Hillard, with whose literary talent and graceful elecution the public is already familiar, will give a course of lectures and readings, illustrative of modern English Poetry, in this city, during the coming Winter. They will be twelve in number, commencing on Wednesday, the 29th inst., and terminating on Wednesday, Feb. 14, and will be given in the pariors of the Young Women's Christian Association, No. 7 East Fif-teenth-st. The course, beginning with Shelley, Keats, and Landor, closes with a critical examination of what Miss Hillard calls "The Pagan School," including Mormiss finiard casts "The Pagan School," including Mor-ris, Rossetti and Swinburne. The course offers special opportunities for the exhibition of Miss Hillard's abuity, both as a critic and a reader, and will doubless attract as many heavers as the space can accommodate.

THE FEININGER RECITALS.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Feininger will give the first of a series of music recitals at Chickering Hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 29. Mr. Feininger is a violinist who has created an excellent impression whenever he has been heard in this city, and his wife is said to be a gifted planist. Their performances have met with great success in many European cities and in Brazil, and they intend to give here many works which are very infrequently heard in our concerts. The recitals promise to be of a highly interesting character, and will certainly have great artistic value.

It has been one of the reproaches which has too often attached to the Legislatures of this State that a change of men has not brought a change of either meas-ures or methods, and that one Legislature is likely to be ures or methods, and that one Legislature is likely to be as open to bad influences as another, whichever party obtains control. There is a decaded change necessary in this respect, and the Republican majority in the Assembly enhant better recognize tout need than by stammang out the hopes of such men as Thomas G. Alvard of synchos, who has announced himself as a candidate for the speakership. He is precisely the kind of man who must be discountenanced if the Republican Legislature and the Republican party in this State hope for the confidence and support of the veters who make parties and make Legislatures.—[N. Now, supposing Hayes declared elected by counting the votes from the three doubtful states a given in the official civilicates, the Democrats will have no constitutional means of redress. The very utmosgiven in the official c-rtificates, the Democrats will have no constitutional means of redress. The very utmost they could do would be to use force to prevent the inauguration of Hayes; but as President Grant will be still in office this would be a tougher job than anyoody would care to undertake. A resort to force would be treason, and with the army at his command Gen. Grant would make short work of treason. We may, therefore, quietly dismiss all the "gorgons, bydras and chimeras dire" which distempered and caviling imaginations have conjured up, and accept the safe condusion that, let the official count be as it may, the result will be acquiceed in by the deteated party and the peace of the country be preserved.—[New-York Herais (Ind.)

WHERE TILDENS VOTE COMES FROM.

The great bulk of all the enferprising and active business communities of the country have cast a majority of their votes for flayes and wheeler, and Triden relies mainly for his vote on the same section as that which gave Breckinridge an overwhelming majority the year before the war. Gov. Tilden can take his stand on Washington Hights to-day, and if it were a physical possibility for him to see the racific Ocean, his eye would not rest on a single large community that had given him a majority of its votes; for the electoral vote of Indiana was carried for him by the preponderance of an unprogressive, untraveled, and comparatively unenlightened population, which has emigrated from the South and colonized the lower part of that State. All the prosperous agricultural communities in the United States are for Hayes. All the thriving communities have east their vote for him. Tilden's strength lies in sections that have been Bourboutzed-retragressive sections inclined to look back with admiration upon the good old days of Jackson, Pierce, and Bachanan, and to regret the decadence of the Republic. The following table shows at a glance the present strongholds of the Democracy:

On the 35th day after the holding of any general or special election for any State officer, member of the Legislature, or representative in Congress, or sooner if the returns shall have been received from the several counties wherein elections shall have been held, the Secretary of State, Altorney-General, and the Controller of Public Accounts, or any two of them, together with any other member of the Cabinet who may be designated by them, shall meet at the office of the Secretary of State, pursuant to notice to be given by the Secretary of State, pursuant to notice to be given by the Secretary of State, and form a board of State canvassers, and proceed to ca wass the returns of said election, and determine and declare who shall have been elected to any such office, or as such member, as shown by such returns. If any such returns shall be shown or shall appear to be so bregular, talse, or fraudmient that the board shall be unable to determine the true vote for any such officer or member, they shall so certify, and shall not include such returns in their determination and declaration, and the Secretary of State shall preserve and file in his office all such returns, to getter with such other decuments and papers as may nave been received by him or by said board of canvassers.

It will be observed that the section just quoted does not refer in any manner to the canvassing of the returns for electors. It also differs from Section 28 of the law of 1868, in providing for an additional member of the board, and in fixing the latest time of meeting two weeks later than the latest time fixed by the act of 1868. If the returns for electors are to be canvassed under Section 28 (1868) as the law seems to provide, the Board can only declare the result as certified to by the County Judges and clerks of the Circuit Courts. Under Section 4 (1872) they have the power to revise the returns for State officers, members of the Legislature, and Congressmen. The time for meeting this year, under Section 28, would be Nov. 28, and under Section 4 (1872), Dec. 12. The only provisions eisewhere made in the two acts for throwing out fraudulent votes are contained in Sections 21 and 22 of the law of 1868. Section 21 provides that as soon as the pells are finally closed the inspectors shall publicly canvass the vote, and continue the canvass until it is completed. If the number of ballots exceeds the number of persons who shall have voted, as may appear by the clerk's ist, "the ballots shall be replaced in the box, and one of the inspectors shall publicly draw out and the clerk's fist, "the ballots shall be replaced in the box, and one of the inspectors shall publicly draw out and destroy unopened so many of such ballots as shall be equal to such excess." Section 22 declares that "if two or more ballots small be found forded together so as to present the appearance of a single ballot, they shall be laid aside until the count of the ballots is completed, and if, upon comparison of the count and the appearance of such ballots, a majority of the board shall be of the opinion that the ballots thus folded together were voted by one person, such ballots shall be destroyed." Certificates of the result are to be sent to the County Judge and be clerk of the Circuit Court; the latter also receives the oaths of the inspectors and clerks and the poll list. When the cauvass by these officers has been completed, estimates of the result are sent to the Secret ry of State and the Governor, inter which the vote of the State is cauvassed by the State Board as described above. The Circuit Court Clerk issues certificates of else for to any county officer elected. If two or more persons receive an equal and the highest number of votes for any county office, the clerk shall cause notice to be given to thou be appear at his office at a stated time, within ten days after the canvass, "to determine, by lot, which of such persons shall be entitled to such office," If "such persons of altered them, shall, not attend, the clork scall invite some distincterised elector to altered as his proxy, and the persons, or their proxies," shall determine which of the candidates shall be entitled to the office.

This year, notwith standing this sarge increase on the Republican Democrats will count up from 113,000 to 115,000 for Vance. There has been no marked increase of popula tion to account for this enormous augmentation of the number of voters, and the Republicans attribute it to systematic ballot-box stuffing in the counties where the Democrats possessed the election machinery. Col. Keo is preparing a report on the frauds committed, not with the hope of finding a remedy, for the Democratic Legis lature canvasses the vote, but to put the facts before the

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Washington, Thursday, Nov. 16, 1876. The following circular to the consular officers of the United States in Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Belgium, and Germany, has been issued from the State Department:

Italy, Austria, Belgium, and Germany, has been issued from the State Department:

GENTLEMEN: The Secretary of the Treasury, in a letter of the 7th inst., refers to the subject of samples of merchandise to be imported into the United States from the countries above mentioned, which are usually deposited in the Consulate, and to which your attention was called by a circular of the 10th of July last marked "separate," and has stated that these samples have commenced to arrive at various custom-houses of the United States, and that some are so attached to the triplicate myoices as to seriously impair their condition, while others are forwarded separately upon sample cards, and so indersed as to establish their identity with invoices which abcompany them. This latter system of samples, it is stated, is recarded as most suitable for the purposes of customs officers, and the Secretary of the Treasury has requested that instructions upon the subject may be addressed to you. You are therefore directed to forward in future all samples in the manner sugessed, where it is possible to so so, and to aid you in doing so I fictose servicin a form of civil to which samples should not, as a ratic, exise in secretary. The samples should not, as a ratic, exised the size of the card, which measures 74 inches long and 4 inches wide, and where the sample except in size the dimensions of file card, the latter should be attached to the sample with a tag or otherwise. I am, gentlemen, your obedient serva.;

John L. Cadwalland, Asst. Secty.

to devise a form of government for the District of Columbia render it probable that a Government Com-Columbia render if probable that a Government Commission will be recommended, all the members except two favoring its plan. This seems to be in accord with public sentiment in Washington, the clitzens manifesting no desire to try the experiment of a representative government a second time. It is proposed that the United States shall pay 40 per cent of the expenses of the District and the tax-payers 60.

The annual report of the Solicitor of the Treasury shows the following as the results of Government litigation during the fixed year ending the 3- in of June last: Suits becom 2, 339; says decided in favor of the United States.

begun, 2,339; suits decided in favor of the United States, 1,009; suits decided age ast the United States, 74; suits otherwise disposed of 190; amount of julgments ob-tained (excitative of decrees in rem.), $1,760,821,93; amount of collections, $80,198,41. The board to arrange a plan for the reorganization of the army met at the War Department to-day, all the members poing present except Semator West and Repremembers teling present except Senator were and depe-sentiative Laming. These who were in attendance gave their views upon the subject before them, and it was agreed to adjourn until Menday, when a fuller and more explicit under at adding will be had of the views of silves members; after which the commission will begin the preparation of a report.

The Post-Office Department to-day ordered railway mail service to be placed on the Burlington and South-Western Railroad, between Mannville and Laclede, Iowa, a distance of 53 miles, service to began Dec. 1. The de-partment also to-day ordered service on the Cincinnati and Eastern Railroad, from Little Miami Junction to Batavia, Ohio, a distance of 15 miles, to begin Nov. 20. The Secretary of the Treasury has begun the preparation of his annual report. He was at his private res dence the greater portion of to-day in order to give that document his undivided attention. It appears very probable that a pardon will soon be issued for William McKee, though up to this afternoon no warrant therefor had been prepared.

Jas. F. Sloman was to-day appointed Revenue Store-keeper for the IId District of Georgia and Braxton D. Avis for the VIth District of Virgina.

SALE OF MODERN SPANISH PAINTINGS. The Messrs, Leavitt began the sale last evening at their Art Rooms, No. 817 Broadway, of the Tolosa collection of oil and water-color paintings, which com-prises many fine examples of the modern Spanish school. In addition there were offered an exceedingly rare collection of studio furniture, musical instruments, arms and armor, tapestries, and costumes. Two stools, richly covered with damask and heavily mounted in gilt, of the covered with damask and heavily monment in an especimens of work, as were two tables of the same period. There were also an antique Louis Quatorze cabinet of chony, iniaid with ivory and ornamented with gilt bronze figures and carbuncles, a choice collection of arms and a large pattern of Gobelin tapestry in colors. The attendance was large, and comprised an unusual number of ladies. The bidding was slow, and the prices realized rather below the estimated anction value of the articles. All of the oil paintings were disposed of. Some of the prices realized were as follows: "in the Garden," by Peralta, $125; "The Inventor," by Garbrini, $750; "A Practical $725; "The Inventor," by Garbrini, $750; "A Practical Joke," by Martinetti, $700; "Popping the Question," by T. THE FRANKLIN STILL AT SEA. The constant watch for the Franklin is still inrewarded by her appearance. The Nina, which is waiting for her arrival, came up to the city yesterday morning. It was thought strange that she should leave her post, especially as the Franklin is expected to arrive any moment, and the mystery was deepened by the course taken by the vessel. Instead of steaming in a direct line toward New-York the nearest way, the Nina kept very close to the Staten Island and New-Jersey shores until of Communipaw, when she passed the Bat-tery, went around the lower side of Governor's Island. and then went up the East River. A CLERK'S ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

William Lintz of No. 65 Maiden-lane called at the Police Central Office yesterday and inquired of Inspector Dilks for information in regard to the attempted suicide of George Ketcham, who attempted to jump over-board from the North River ferry-boat Weehawken, as she was leaving her slip at the foot of Barclay-st., at 6:20 p. m. last Wednesday. The deck hand who prevented him from carrying out his plan said that Mr. Ketcham him from carrying out his plan said that Mr. Ketcham off-red him $25 to let him jump overboard. Mr. Ketcham was subsequently arrested and taken to a policelisation in Hoboken and examined. He refused to give his name, but on being searched a card inscribed George Ketcham was found in his pockets, with $30 and a bottle of whisky. Mr. Lintz stated that Mr. Ketenam had been in his employ for seven years, and had been engaged for some time past to a young lady residing in the same house as himself; that about two mouths ago her mind had become slightly affected. On account of this Ketcham had been melancholy for some time. Mr. Lantz asked him to attend a wedding or one of his family on Wetnesday even my bat he declined. Up to hast evening he had not been seen at his place of business, and it is feared that he has attempted to take his life a second time.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 16.—The business portion of the town of Magnella, N. C., was destroyed by fire last night. Nincteen buildings, including the ratiroad depot, telegraph and express offices, with their concerts, were burned. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

History has essayed all kinds of definitions a distinctions as between the civilized and barbarous man. We should sum up the civilized man as the clean man. The tendency reaches its finest exponent in the invention of B. T. BARBITT, the "BARY SOAP." a recentarticle puton the market, and the nonpareit of toilet articles. Its velvety touch in washing and batthing makes it supremely pleasant and it can be trusted as the purest thing in use. B. T. Barbitt's Bary SOAP will need no consumencation to the man or woman using it, either for themselves or civilizen.
